ARRESTS MADE BY

Charged With Attempting to Military tactics employed in making the arrest of two men charged with robbery the World's Fair early Thursday morn ing, were used to advantage by Lieutenan W. O. Reed, a United States army office attached to the Jefferson Guard.

clever military coup occupied less than ten minutes from the time the at tempted robbery was reported at headquarters until the arrest was made. ut 1 o'clock Thursday morning Captain Conrad, adjutant of the guard, re ceived a telephone call from the store keeper of the electrical supply depart ment of the Exposition, reporting that three men who had been prowling abou the building were about to make off with several colls of insulating wire.

several colls of insulating wire.

The supply building is located about 250 feet west of Jefferson Guard headquarters. It took just five minutes for a party of eight guards, accompanied by Lieutenant Reed, to reach the scene. Three guards, accompanied by a Sergeant, hurried to the place to find the men about to make their exit through the fence, where they hed torn a paing loose.

When the departing guests observed the approaching guards they hastened to make their escape, and got on the other side of the fence with the rapidity of squirrels.

Lieutenant Reed and his three guards, who had followed the railroad track on the outside of the fence just opposite the building, formed a reception committee that met the alleged robbers as they hurried through the fence.

Two of the men ran right into the arms of the outside post. Seeing the trick that had been played in compelling their retreat, they offered no resistance, and surrendered.

While the two men were being taken in charge the third man made his escape.
Several shots were fired at him, but so far as known without effect.

The two men arrested were taken to the police station, where they gave their names as Frank Murphy and William M.
Young. Murphy claims to have been a former driver in the employ of the General Service Company. Young says he was an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at

WHERE IS SCORE OF "IRIS"?

Fancuilli's Band Intended to Play Opera-Manuscript Lost.

Where is the score of the opera "Iris," by Mascagni?

That is a question that is worryin Fanculli, leader of one of the bands at World's Pair, and that is causing him to shed tears.

The opera of the celebrated Italian composer was on the programme of Wednesday night's concert, but when the band was ready to play the number, the score could not be found. Whether it had been stolen, lost or misplaced, no one could say.

Fanculli is especially grieved because the score is said to be the only manu-script copy in the United States.

St. Louis weather for the month of July, as has been the case for the last several years, was cool and pleasant, comparing most favorably with the summer climate of Northern and Eastern States.

July is usually the warmest month of the year, but at no time during the month was the heat oppressive. In fact, there were only a few really warm days and none that could have been termed "hot." The mean temperature, 75.5 degrees, indicated ideal summer-resort weather, and, compared with cities on the sea coast, showed only a slight difference in their favor. On the warm days of the month conditions were, in several cases, actually more favorable to St. Louis, and in only a few instances did any of the metropolitan centers escape a warm wave when one prevailed in and near St. Louis. The cities taken into consideration are Boston. New York Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, Boston and New York are both seacoast towns and extreme high temperatures are not to be expected. REPUBLIC SPECIAL Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 4.-The strike of the Order of Rallway Telegraphers and Stafar as the Sedalla division is concerned far as the Sedalia division is concerned, is at an end.

Nearly all of the agents and telegraphers who went out on a strike have returned to their posts or their places have been supplied. At only three small stations—Leads, La Due and Harwood—on the division are there no telegraph operators, and none will be supplied because they are not needed for the operation of trains.

All passenger and freight trains are running regularly and on time. Several strike-breakers were sent from here to-day to points in Indian Territory, where their services are in demand.

He is a member Seventh Congressional District Commit-tee, and was elected State Committee-man from his district. He is also the campaign manager of Congressman C. W.

Hamlin.

Mr. Lightfoot is a resident of the same town as Chairman Akins of the Republican State Committee. In case he decides to enter the race for the secretaryship it is thought he will prove a very formidable opponent for the candidates onw in the field.

CLEMENTS HAS RETIRED. Republicans Concede That Medring-

hous Will Be New State Chaleman. Doctor E. B. Clements of Macon and A Martin of Unionville arrived in the city last night to be on hand for the meeting of the Republican State Committee at the Lindell Hotel to-morrow morning. It is said that Doctor Clements will not be a candidate for State chairman. was prominently mentioned as a candidate in St. Joseph, but he has seen the drift of in St. Joseph, but he has seen the drift of the Walbridge game since that time and will now be a worker in the ranks.
Mr. Martin was the campaign manager for State Senator John C. McKinley in his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Unless Senator McKinley changes his mind, he will remain on the ticket. The Waibridge managers have been busy since the St. Joseph Convention getting their friends to write to McKinley, urging alm to remain in second place.

Kinley, urging him to remain in second place.

They have also been busy denying that they inteded to trade minor candidates for governorship votes. In fact, so much opposition was aroused to the scheme that they have been busy trying to undo the effect of the publication of the scheme with indifferent success.

Every indication points to the selection of Thomas K Niedringhaus as State chairman. He will depart to-morrow night for New York to attend a meeting of the Board of Directors of the National Emmeling and Stamping Company, of which he is vice president. After that he will devote his time to the campaign.
